

2012 AMA/Rekluse National Enduro Series

New Transponder Reminder

At the 7th round of the 2011 AMA/Rekluse National Enduro Series we implemented a new transponder scoring system that no longer uses the cigar style transponder.

The new system scores riders more efficiently, is more compact and easier for the check workers to transport, and provides quicker scoring. The system utilizes a new transponder, which is a self adhesive circuit board that sticks to the underside of your helmet visor.

The new transponder, like the old ones, cannot be used around anything metal. So with that in mind and after several tests using the new transponder and antenna, it was decided that the underside of the helmet visor was the best placement for the transponder. (Note example below)

The transponders will be available at sign-up for a $10 fee, being that they are self adhesive there will be no rental program. They have proven to be very reliable and can be reused for many events.

The new antennas will be much smaller and most of the time be strapped to a tree at the checks. You will still be funneled down to single file using track tape and there will still be the same displays after the antenna showing your row number and time.

Our new scoring system will still be powered by MotoTally software. Providing you with the same check by check text and e-mail alerts, scoring on the two 40" monitors and complete web results we currently use.

About the NEPG: The NEPG was formed by a group of Enduro enthusiasts to assist the AMA in promotion and management of the AMA National Enduro Series. Our objective is to work with the riders, clubs and sponsors to raise the level of participation and awareness to Enduro competition.

About the 2012 AMA National Enduro Series: Enduros are the oldest form of off-road motorcycle competition in the USA. Enduro's can trace their beginnings back to 1920 and perhaps even earlier and it is still the premier off-road motorcycle competition around the world today.

The sport has evolved several times over the years and the newest evolution was designed to meet the needs of today's motorcyclists. The NEPG is the promotional partner of the AMA National Enduro Championship Series and will work with clubs to build awareness and increase ridership at Enduro's. Our goal is to make sure that the oldest form of off-road competition will remain strong and viable well into the future.
